

i am writing in defense of XM Radio and the service that it provides by giving local weather and traffic on their radio. As a person that travels, I find that XM radio gives me great relief in not having to spend time when I get to major metropolitan areas and searching for a local radio station on the highway, allowing me to concentrate on the road instead of searching for a radio station and possibly having an accident and also letting me know if there are severe weather conditions ahead so I can possibly try to avoid those areas and not have to drive into adverse conditions both affecting me and other persons on the roads. Also possibly not making a condition even worse by letting people know instead of letting them go blindly and then making more of a mess than needed to be.
